

The Sales Process: Step 2

The Transition Statement

The purpose of the transition statement is to have your prospect acknowledge and give you permission to discuss sensitive information.

Let's hear what yours is like:

Brainstorm:

Imagine a financial professional is about to ask you for all your personal and financial information . What would you want to hear that would give confidence that the financial professional in front of you is the right person?